

CONTESTS ARE ALL VERY HOT

Madison Politicians Watching The Congressional Battles With Much Interest.

JENKINS FIGHTING FOR HIS LIFE

Nolan Doing Some Yeoman Work In The First Against Cooper--The Second A Warm Proposition-- State Contests Discussed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 13.—Less than three weeks remain in which the voters will make up their minds whom they will support for the party nominations to be determined in the primary election September 1.
While the main struggle is over the republican nomination for United States senator, there are also a number of other interesting contests. The infusion of the state fight for the nomination for the lieutenant governorship between Strango and Trotman promises to wax warm before the end comes.
In the first congressional district, Thos. S. Nolan of Janesville is making a strong fight against Henry A. Cooper of Racine, the present congressman. His contest is of the gun show variety and he has covered the entire district without Cooper's becoming alarmed.
In the second congressional district Congressman John M. Nelson is having a tussle with General C. H. Russell for the republican congressional nomination, but this fight, while strenuous, is far from being as fierce as that up around Hudson and Superior, where Congressman J. J. Jenkins, chairman of the judiciary committee of the national house of representatives, is engaged in a terrible struggle with L. L. Lenoir for the nomination for congress in the eleventh district.
This is the most bitter contest in the state and hard names are being called on both sides. From this distance it is hard to tell how the battle is going, but it is said that the former speaker of the assembly, who made such a sorry show of himself two years ago against Governor Davidson, has excellent prospects of winning against the most powerful Wisconsin member of the Wisconsin delegation at Washington.
It would seem impossible from a defeated and somewhat discredited politician like Lenoir, but the reports from Superior are decidedly in his favor.

They also handed him a campaign contribution of fifty dollars subscribed by fifty of their number. In accepting the guard and the contribution Bryan assured his visitors if elected to the presidency the "big stick" would not be in evidence, believing it is easier to lead people through their love than to control them through their fears.

"CY" YOUNG DAY WAS OBSERVED IN BOSTON

Man Who is Still a Star Player at Forty-two Years of Age Honored.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Aug. 13.—Today's celebration of "Cy" Young Day attracted the largest crowd ever seen at a baseball game in Boston. Devotees of the national game from a large section of New England turned out in full force to do honor to the "grand old man" of baseball. The seventh wonder of the baseball firmament, the man who is still a star player at forty-two years of age, was given an ovation that was never equalled, not even in the days of the late "King" Kelly.
An hour before the game was called the crowd of enthusiastic fans filled grandstand and bleachers and overran a large section of the field. Occupying boxes in the grandstand were a number of the magnates of major and minor leagues, some of whom had traveled several hundred miles to pay tribute to the veteran pitcher. The Boston croakers' club and the association of old-timers were there in full force, while the plain, everyday fans numbered thousands.
Young made his appearance on the diamond amid a roar of applause that could be heard several blocks away. With an much embarrassment on the schoolboy at commencement time, the veteran "Cy" listened to the complimentary addresses, which were followed by the presentation of several of handsome and substantial testimonials that will serve to cheer the old man of the veteran pitcher when he retires from the national game in 1925 or thereabouts and goes back to his stock farm in Ohio.

FORMER PROFESSOR IS 85 YEARS OLD

Goldwin Smith, Prominent Modern History Authority, Celebrates Birthday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Toronto, Ont., Aug. 13.—Professor Goldwin Smith, one of the adopted sons of whom Canada is most proud, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday today. From England and from many parts of Canada and the United States messages of congratulation poured in at "The Grange," where the genial publicist and historian has made his home for more than thirty-five years. Born in Reading, England, August 13, 1823, Mr. Smith early reached the high position of regius professor of modern history at Oxford, which he held from 1858 to 1866. In 1866 he went to the United States, and for three years filled the chair of lecturer at Cornell University on English and constitutional history. In that year he removed to Toronto, but until a few years ago he still retained a nominal connection with Cornell. His life in Toronto has been devoted to literature, journalism, philanthropy and all the higher duties of citizenship.
"The Grange" was built in 1817 and was then on the outskirts of the little town of York. It still has the atmosphere of an English country house, though the roar of traffic of a large city is about it. There in its spacious rooms Professor Goldwin Smith spends his days in pleasant labor. The years have brought many changes and have carried away many of his cherished friends, but the sage of the Grange still has a cheerful outlook on life and enjoys remarkably good health for a man of his years.

"Yesterday the conference was really the first business meeting I have had with the national chairman, since the organization for the campaign," said Judge Taft.
"The amount of work that has been done is surprising, but decidedly satisfactory. With Hitchcock's methods I am more than satisfied. He has a wonderful grasp on the work he is doing and plans a long way ahead."

Among the prominent participants are the president, Dr. John, of the Hartford School of Theology; Rev. Dr. Charles R. OHIO'S SENATORIAL TANGLE.
Senator Dick of Ohio in the upper left; Senator Foraker of Ohio in the upper right. In the bottom row, reading from left to right, are Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Cleveland; former National Committeeman Myron T. Herrick and "Brother" Charles P. Taft.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 13.—Ever since Foraker and Taft battled for the Ohio presidential vote in the republican national convention the Ohio senatorial situation has been highly complex. During the early days of the Taft campaign one of his greatest stumbling blocks was the notorious division of his own party in his own state, caused by Senator Foraker and Senator Dick and other friends. The division was due primarily to long continued hostility between Foraker and the Taft policies. With Taft, the undisputed victor in every skirmish, it has been universally stated that Foraker would be forced to retire from the senatorial state.

When Foraker was procuring his presidential votes he had no stronger backer than his Ohio colleagues in the Ohio house of congress, Senator Dick. Foraker and Dick have always been in perfect harmony and unity of action. As a result the Foraker blight, which has been a dark blot on the senatorial situation in the Buckeye state is accordingly further involved.

Senator Foraker's term expires March 4, 1909, when he will have served 12 years in the upper house. Senator Dick's term expires March 3, 1911, when he will have served seven years in the upper house. The contest is now on for both of their places.

Letters have been received in Cleveland indicating that republican leaders in southern Ohio will demand that the senatorship, to be vacated by Foraker next year, be given to that section of the state. Foraker himself is from Cincinnati and southern Ohio. Dick is from Akron and northern Ohio. If Foraker retires and a northern Ohio candidate is elected to succeed him, the northern part of the state will have two senators until the term of Senator Dick expires in 1911, while southern Ohio will have none. Hence the political pot is boiling nobly.

It has been generally expected that in this event Huron and Herrick would have to wait until 1911, when the term of Senator Dick expires. It would obviously be a simple matter for the Huron-Herrick forces in northern Ohio to combine with the Charles Taft forces in southern Ohio and deliver the Foraker seat to Taft the present year and the Dick seat to one of the Cleveland gentlemen two years hence.

So far as known Dick and Foraker have not been consulted as to these arrangements.

If you were to see your furniture in some other house would it make a favorable impression on you?
A chair with a loose arm or leg, or worn upholstery, a couch badly sagging in the center, or the finish all scratched up and in a table, these are but small defects and are easily remedied if you will send it to me for repair. If the frame is good I can make any piece look new and different and it will be true economy.
My work for years past stands as a favorable recommendation, and my prices are always reasonable.

FACTORIES BUSY WITH NEW ORDERS

GENERAL CONDITIONS ARE MOST EXCELLENT IN CITY.

HARD TIMES ARE PAST

Orders Being Received Denote Return of Former Business Activity.

If one judges by the signs of the times then it may be truthfully said that business conditions in Janesville are becoming better than they have been for several months past. Nearly all of the manufacturers report an increase in the amount of their business with prospects for larger orders in the immediate future. All of the shops which have shut down have resumed work again and have enough work to keep their present forces working full time.

The Wisconsin Carriage company yesterday shipped a load of their buggies to Burlington but are doing mostly repair work on carriages. They are running ten hours a day and have started to build cutters for the trade this winter. They expect to make several hundred of these. Their products will be exhibited at the State Fair and at several other fairs at Burlington, Elkhorn, Richland Center, Bloomington, Ill., and Elkhart, Ind. Two carloads of their carriages will go to Milwaukee and Elkhorn and one carload each to the other places. The Western Shoe company's factory is running in every department turning out 150 pairs of shoes a day. Next week they expect to put out 200 pairs a day. Their line of samples has been finished. They are having a good call for the heavy line of men's and boys shoes which they make.

The Rock River Cotton company are shipping considerable of their products out and are refueling their stock. Their shipments are three or four times as large as the amount that they are now manufacturing. This is their busy season for shipping. They report collections as being good.

Business at Nott Bros' box factory is dependent on the amount of business that their customers are doing and their business is picking up right along. The prospects are for a larger amount of business though the orders are coming in right along now.

The samples of shoes which the traveling men employed by the P. M. Marzullo company will use are about completed and the men will be ready to start out about the 25th of this month. The shoes which they will show at the shoe and leather exhibition at Chicago August 26 to September 2 are practically all finished. At this exhibition the work of the finest shoemakers in the United States will be shown. Mr. Marzullo and Mr. L. H. Birch of Ohio, one of the company's representatives, will attend. Mr. Marzullo states that if any of the people from Janesville are in Chicago between the 26th of August and the 2nd of September, and wish to attend the exhibition he would be glad to get them tickets if they will speak to him about it.

The Janesville Machine company's plant again resumed work August 2 and are working full force. Their office rooms are being torn up and remodeled.

The Milwaukee Springs company report their business as being rather quiet although they have quite a number of local orders to fill.

The Strickler Hay Tool company and the Rock River Machine company report a good amount of business enough so that they are working all of the time.

The Janesville Shirt and Overall company are very busy trying to fill their orders. They are enlarging the size of the factory, having secured some of the unemployed room directly under where the Marzullo company has its shoe factory.

The Badger State Machine company have plenty of orders and are working full time.

The New Doty Manufacturing company report business as quiet but are working right along.

WILLIAM R. STUBBS, SUCCESSFUL NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR OF KANSAS.

W. R. Stubbs of Lawrence, Kan., the square deal candidate, has been nominated by the republicans of Kansas as their candidate for governor by a large majority, defeating Cyrus Leland, J. N. Dooley was Mr. Stubbs' manager and it is in a large part due to his activities that Mr. Stubbs received such a landslide. Leland's hardest blow was in Wyandotte county, where the vote was only 6,000 out of a possible 16,000, and while Leland's majority was a few hundred, he had expected over 3,000.

WILL SOON WRECK OLD ROUND HOUSE

Northwestern Foreman has Received Orders to Tear Down Structure in Old Yards.

Orders have been received by the local foreman here to tear down the old round house at Janesville. It was expected that it would be repaired and rented for use as a warehouse but when it was inspected it was found to be in such a condition that it would not pay to repair it. Besides the round house, the coal chutes and the water tower are also to be removed and the turn table will probably be taken out later. The work of demolishing the round house will be begun soon. The sand tower and the transfer house have already been taken down and sent away.

The machine shops and the old blacksmith shops will be allowed to stand as these have been repaired and fixed up and will be occupied by the Owen Thomas Motor Car company in the setting up of their automobiles. The floor of the foundry room has been covered partly with chinders and a plank floor has been laid at one end of it. In the machine shop the walls and ceiling, which were covered with soot have been washed off and cleaned up and some benches made for their machinery.

Northwestern Road.

Thirty-five flatcars arrived here yesterday to unload the treated ties, which were brought here for storage and which the regular crew working in the yards refused to unload on account of the excessive heat in the ties blistering their hands. They will have five tank cars for their use while they are working here.

The round house foreman and Master Mechanic of the Wisconsin and Northern Wisconsin divisions met in Janesville yesterday and held a meeting at the round house in the office of Mr. Ziecker. These gatherings are held quite frequently at the different foremen's offices, where questions of interest in the work are brought up and discussed. Carsons, Travelling Engineer, of the Northern Wisconsin division, F. W. Peterson, Master Mechanic at Fond du Lac.

HENRY CASSON, SR.

Madison, Wis.—Henry Casson, Sr., has been chosen as assistant secretary of the republican national congressional campaign committee, which will have its headquarters at New York during the fall campaign. Casson is an adept in politics and since December, 1890, has served as sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, being re-elected biennially without opposition. Since the campaign of 1900 he has been the manager of the speakers bureau for the national congressional campaigns for the republican party and would probably have been chosen secretary of the campaign this year had not he asked that some congressman or senator be chosen and he be allowed to give assistance.

Casson has been many times honored by the people of the state of Wisconsin. He was private secretary to J. M. Rusk when he was at the head of the department of the interior was three times secretary of state of Wisconsin and has served in numerous other political capacities. He is a former newspaper editor.

It is the duty of Mr. Casson to preserve peace in the house during the sessions, but he admits that the "mace" is seldom put into use. Mr. Casson's home is at Madison Wis.

METHODISTS OPEN FIGHT ON CANNON

HOLDUP OF LIQUOR SHIPMENT
BILL IS THE CAUSE.

OFFICIAL ADDRESS ISSUED

Crusade Begun for Election of a Speaker Who Will Permit Congress to Vote on the Measure.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 13.—The Methodist Episcopal church has begun an active crusade for the election of a speaker "who will allow congress to vote on the 'interstate liquor shipment
bill'."

The church, which has over 3,000, 000 of communicants, has created the Temperance society of the Methodist Episcopal church, with authority to represent the denomination in all temperance matters. This society is managed by a board composed of a bishop and 15 members named by the bishop and elected by the late general conference. The board of managers
has organized and directed its chairman to take steps to begin an active campaign. An official address has been issued to all members of the denominational asking their co-operation.

Bill Held Up Five Years.
The "shipment bill," which has been pending in congress for at least five years, does not seek to impose
prohibition on any locality, but provides that liquor shipped from one
state to another shall, immediately upon crossing the boundary, become subject to the laws of the state into which it is consigned.

"The speaker of the national house
of representatives," says the address,

Joseph G. Cannon.

"absolutely controls its proceedings.
He is opposed to this legislation. He has used the power of his office to hold up in the judiciary committee appointed by him, on the alleged ground that it is unconstitutional. Our church by action of the recent general conference, insists that congressional doubt
as to the constitutionality of such legislation be resolved in the interests of the public morals and that the general conference unanimously adopt the report of Gov. Hanly's special committee appointed to wait upon Speaker
Cannon, which closes with the following words: 'We submit to our people and to all good citizens the wisdom of electing men as members of congress who believe in its validity
and who are willing to enact it.'"

Call to Christian Voters.

"At least one member of the house judiciary committee has been defeated
for the nomination on his record on this question, and we believe that the time has come when our people who want to help secure this legislation
must support for congress candidates
who will not only vote for this measure, if they get a chance, but will themselves support for speaker a man who will allow it to be voted upon
and that its passage is improbable until Christian voters recognize this situation and cast their ballots accordingly."

G. N. TILLMAN NOMINATED.

Second Republican Candidate for Governor of Tennessee Named.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 13.—George N. Tillman of Davidson county is the gubernatorial nominee of that part of the Republican party in Tennessee known as the Evans faction. He was nominated by acclamation Wednesday
at the close of the second Republican state convention held in Tennessee
this week. The platform contains a plank providing for state-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic through extension of what is known as the four mile law.

The nomination of Mr. Tillman makes two Republican candidates for the office of governor of Tennessee.

FRENCH NAVAL DISASTER

SIX MEN KILLED ON GUNNERY
SCHOOL SHIP COURONNE.

Eighteen Others Are Injured.—Breach-
block of Gun Blows Out While Recruits Are Practicing.

Toulon, Aug. 13.—Six persons were killed and 18 injured in a gun explosion aboard the gunnery school ship
Couronne, Wednesday off Les Salins
d'Hyeres.

The accident occurred while a number of recruits were receiving instructions in handling a 104-millimeter gun, the breach of which blew
out. Three of those wounded were in a dangerous condition.

The ship had hardly been pushed
home when it exploded with terrific force. Sheets of flame darted backward from the gun and those standing nearby were hurled to the deck. Several of the men were terribly mutilated. Two were permanently blinded and the limbs of others had to be amputated immediately. All the occupants of the turret were more or less injured.

This is the third fatal accident to occur on board the school ship Couronne within the past 16 months, all of which were due to the blowing off
of breechblocks. In the first, April 19, 1907, three men were killed and several injured; and on August 2 of the same year, three men of the crew of a four-inch gun were killed and five wounded. The Couronne is an old vessel, having been laid down in 1861, but
new boilers were installed in 1898.
Her armament consists of 31 guns of various sizes and her complement is 622 men.

TRAIN SMASHES STREET CAR.

Six Men Severely Injured In Accident at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 13.—Six men were injured severely, but probably not fatally, Wednesday afternoon
when a fast incoming Grand Trunk
passenger train from Port Huron struck and wrecked a Harper avenue
street car.

A blinding rainstorm was prevailing
and this is thought to have been responsible for the conductor of the car
not seeing the train. The car was directly across the railroad tracks when it was hit, and it was smashed to pieces, the passengers being hurled
in every direction.

The injured are: Fred Schroeder,
badly cut about head; John H. St.
Johns, conductor of street car; William Newman, motorman; Henry H.
Schultz and Joseph Corsi, all of Detroit, and Frank Herzog of Warren, Mich.

Baldwin's First Official Speed Test
Spilled by Accident.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Capt. Thom-

speed trial of his military dirigible
before the army board at Fort Myer Wednesday. When within a mile of the finishing line a secondary wire connecting the coil of the engine with the commutator broke and the motor stopped. The airship was brought down in a cornfield and after Mr. Baldwin repaired the motor the flight was continued. The accident prevented
any possibility of making the speed
required by the contract, but Capt.
Baldwin has two more trials in which
to demonstrate its speed.

though the fire was burning on the upper slopes of Goat mountain, the government gang of men had the fire
in the valley under control.

HARMONY RULES AT HOT SPRINGS

TAFT, HITCHCOCK AND VORYS
ALL ARE IN CONCORD.

TO AVOID LOCAL FIGHTS

Candidate Won't Mix in State Contests—Colorado Federation of Labor Endorses the Democratic Ticket.

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 13.—"Everything was as harmonious as possible,
and no one was laid across my knee
and spanked."

This was Judge Taft's genial remark Wednesday night in concluding
a detailed account of his all-day conference with Frank H. Hitchcock, Republican national chairman, and Arthur I. Vorys, his chief of staff.

Chairman Hitchcock announced after the first conference, which continued
for three hours, that it could be stated in a formal and official manner
that Mr. Taft would make no speeches outside the city of Cincinnati during the campaign. On his way from Hot Springs to Cincinnati the last of the month, Mr. Taft will make a side trip to Ohio, the arrangements for which have been completed, but the details are withheld for the present.
No political speeches will be made on this trip.

Won't Mix in Local Fights.

It was also officially announced that Mr. Taft would continue the policy
he had already adopted and followed,
of not mixing in local political contentions in any state, or of taking any part whatever in behalf of any candidate for nomination for a state office.
This announcement is intended as an answer, first, to the demand that Mr.
Taft decide the merits of the con-
tentions in the West Virginia split,
and, second, that he express a preference for or against Gov. Hughes in the New York state gubernatorial situation. Taking up the narrative of the day's work, Mr. Taft said:

"We went over the situation in every state where it is recognized that a vigorous campaign must be made. Particular attention was given to Maine and Vermont, not because of any doubt as to the situation in those states, but because the election
is held earlier than in other states.
Gov. Hughes, it was stated, undoubtedly would be one of the speakers in those two states, in addition to his acceptance of an invitation to open the Ohio campaign at Youngstown, September 5. Secretary James Wilson of the department of agriculture has consented to speak in Vermont and Maine, likewise Secretary Strauss
of the department of commerce and labor, and Rev. Dr. John Wesley, pastor of the Metropolitan Temple, New York."

West Virginia's Muddle.

Between the two conferences which were held with Mr. Taft, Mr. Hitchcock was closeted with Senators Elkins and Scott and Mr. Swisher, nominee for governor, all of West Virginia.
Mr. Hitchcock listened to the situation as presented, but said he gave no
indication of any action on his part,
except to promise that should the matter of the split ticket in that state be presented in a proper way to the national committee, that body, following long and broad precedents, naturally would be required to determine which of the two factions was the regular Republican ticket and state organization.

Somerset Elkins after the conference
said that a letter would be addressed
to the national committee.

Colorado Laborites Indorse Bryan.
Denver, Col., Aug. 13.—The Colorado Federation of Labor, in convention here Wednesday, by a viva voce vote indorsed the Democratic party in the national campaign.

The indorsement was given when a long communication from President Samuel Gompers and members of the executive council of the A. F. of L., in which the Republican party was declared to have "insulted" labor and the Democratic party to have given the laboring men practically all that was asked of it and calling upon laboring men generally to support the party which had favored them, was placed before the convention. On motion of P. J. Devault of Denver the communication was "received and concurred in."

The convention was thrown into turmoil when some of the delegates charged that the convention had been flogged and the federation pledged to support the Democratic party contrary to the wish of many members,
but efforts to secure a reconsideration of the action were unavailing.

BOSTON'S BIGGEST TAXPAYER KILLED

J. MONTGOMERY SEARS DIES IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

CAR PLUNGES OVER BANK

Young Millionaire was Prominent in City Politics and was a Candidate for the Massachusetts Senate.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 13.—J. Montgomery Sears, the young Boston millionaire who was hurt in an automobile accident Wednesday between Apponaug and Norwood, died at the Rhode Island hospital late in the day.
He did not recover consciousness from the time of the accident until death came. The body was taken in charge
by a local undertaking firm pending
advice from the young man's relatives, who are abroad, but who have been notified of his demise.

Mr. Sears was one of the richest men of Boston. He came into an estate three years ago upon the death
of his father.

Mr. Sears was 33 years of age and was a graduate of Harvard university.
He was fond of all outdoor sports and was an enthusiastic automobilist. He was last year the largest individual taxpayer in Boston. Nearly all of the property is located in the business district and in the fashionable section of Back Bay.

Candidate for Senate.

Mr. Sears was a member of many clubs and he had figured in city politics. He had announced his candidacy for the Massachusetts senate the coming election. He was not married.

George Saunders, his chauffeur, was seriously hurt in the automobile accident on the Apponaug road, about five miles from here. The car was being driven at a speed of about 60 miles an hour. At the point where the accident occurred there is a sharp curve.
As the road is a lonely one, and the men had to rely wholly on their own lights, it is presumed they came upon
it unexpectedly, and in an attempt to round it at high speed one of the front wheels of the machine broke and the car plunged over an embankment.

Another automobile, containing A.
Albert Sack, Jr., and Charles Webster of Providence, happened to be in the vicinity at the time, and, hearing the crash and the groans of the men, they rushed their cars to the scene of the accident, where they found Sears and Saunders unconscious on the ground,
with their automobile in flames.

Sears Terribly Hurt.

They took the injured men to the Norwood house, and from there they were taken in an ambulance to the Rhode Island hospital in this city.

It was found at the hospital that Mr. Sears was suffering from a fracture of the skull, a fractured tibia and internal injuries. An operation was immediately performed, but the doctors held forth only slight hopes of his recovery. Saunders sustained two fractures of the leg and will recover.

fying her marriage to the earl of Yar-

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved
liver. It would be a stupid as well as
a savage thing to beat a weary or starved
man because he lagged in his work. So
in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is
a great mistake to rush it with strong
drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled
body whose organs are weary with over-
work. Start with the stomach and all organs of digestion and nutrition. Put
them in working order and see how
quickly your liver will become active.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
has made many marvelous cures of "liver
trouble," by its wonderful control of the
organs of digestion and nutrition. It re-
stores the normal activity of the stomach,
increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the
liver of the burden imposed upon it by
the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the
morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue,
flat breath, constipated or irregular bowels,
feel weak, easily tired, dependent, frequent
headaches, pain or distress in "small of back,"
gnawing or distressing "heart burn" in stomach,
or "acid eructations," "belching" or "flatus" in
throat after eating, and kindred symptoms
of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure
you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Persons only
a part of the above symptoms will be present
at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all
hot bread and biscuits, arid cake and
other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its
use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is a non-secret, non-alcoholic, a chloride extract of natural mineral
salt water with a full list of its ingredients
printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested
under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed
and extolled by the most eminent medical
writers of the age and are recommended to
cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown
composition for this non-secret medicine

FAMOUS TUNNEL BUILDER DEAD.

Charles E. Higbee Killed by an Accident at Shoshone, Col.

Denver, Col., Aug. 13.—Charles E.
Higbee, aged 52 years, of this city, one of the world's most noted tunnel builders, was almost instantly killed Tuesday evening at Shoshone, a camp of the Central Colorado Power company,
12 miles east of Glenwood Springs,
Col. The fatal accident was caused by the breaking of a derrick. A guy wire struck Mr. Higbee, crushing his skull.

Mr. Higbee had constructed 49 of the world's greatest tunnels. In the construction of the Simpson tunnel in Italy he is said to have broken the world's record for fast boring. He planned and executed the Tennessee
Pass tunnel on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad.

Holy Roller and Magistrate Fight.

New York, Aug. 13.—There was an exciting scene in the corridor of the New Bedford avenue police court in Brooklyn Wednesday when Howard
Dunwiddle, a disciple of the Holy Rollers, a strange religious sect, attacked Magistrate Higginbotham, before whom 25 men and seven women
members of the order had been arranged charged with disorderly conduct. Magistrate Higginbotham retaliated by striking Dunwiddle square on the jaw.

Wednesday morning.

A JANESVILLE CASE

Many More Like It in Janesville.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Janesville. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof
than such conclusive evidence.

Chas. W. Allen, of 126 Chatham St., Janesville, Wis., says: "After my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I am ready to recommend them
as a remedy that can be relied upon in kidney troubles and backache. I tried many different remedies for these complaints, but until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Peoples'
drug company I found little or no help. After a few days' use of Doan's Kidney Pills, the aching and other symptoms left me and since I discontinued their use, have never returned."

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved
liver. It would be a stupid as well as
a savage thing to beat a weary or starved
man because he lagged in his work. So
in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is
a great mistake to rush it with strong
drugs. A torpid liver is but an
indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled
body whose organs are weary with over-
work. Start with the stomach and all
organs of digestion and nutrition. Put
them in working order and see how
quickly your liver will become active.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
has made many marvelous cures of "liver
trouble," by its wonderful control of the
organs of digestion and nutrition. It re-
stores the normal activity of the stomach,
increases the secretions of the blood-mak-
ing glands, cleanses the system from poi-
sonous accumulations, and so relieves the
liver of the burden imposed upon it by
the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the
morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue,
flat breath, constipated or irregular bowels,
feel weak, easily tired, dependent, frequent
headaches, pain or distress in "small of back,"
gnawing or distressing "heart burn" in stomach,
or "acid eructations," "belching" or "flatus" in
throat after eating, and kindred symptoms
of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medi-
cine will relieve you more promptly or cure
you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Persons only
a part of the above symptoms will be present
at one time and yet point to torpid liver or
biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all
hot bread and biscuits, arid cake and
other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its
use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is a non-secret, non-alco-
holic, a chloride extract of natural mineral
salt water with a full list of its ingredients
printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested
under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed
and extolled by the most eminent medical
writers of the age and are recommended to
cure the diseases for which it is advised.

BRYAN ACCEPTS

William Jennings Bryan has accepted the democratic nomination for President. Amid the plaudits of ten thousand friends and neighbors, Mr. Bryan for the third time gracefully notified the committee appointed to tell him the glad tidings that he would run once more.

At the very beginning of his speech of acceptance Mr. Bryan says: "I charge that the republican party is responsible for all the abuses which now exist in the federal government, and that it is impotent to accomplish the reforms which are imperatively needed."

This sweeping statement, so characteristic of the speaker, at once advises the reader that Mr. Bryan's discussion of the issues of the campaign will be along those same lines, partisan and logical lines which characterize most of his political utterances. It also prepares him for the unavoidable sequel of the text, that Bryan and his party are alone equipped with the vision, the virtue and the capacity to accomplish the reform of recognized abuses.

When it comes to ignoring the fact that most of these evils are the direct outgrowth of conditions, Mr. Bryan took pains to be on the safe side. His calm superiority to natural conditions and his ready tongue to condemn any thing bearing the brand republican was apparent. The trusts, the railroads, the tariff, can all be annihilated by a turn of the hand, according to his reasoning. The republican party are impotent to handle the affairs. He offers no definite plan for reforming these existing evils, but merely recommends himself and democracy as being capable to reform quickly all that is necessary.

The denouncement of the republican platform for its attitude on campaign publicity, popular election of senators and the automatic rule of the speaker is somewhat on the blank cartridge order. The popular election of senators is already partially accomplished by indirectness in a number of states, and its fulfillment, as Mr. Taft says, is hardly to be considered as a party matter. The change so imperatively needed in the house should be made by non-partisan action. Republicans and democrats, who believe in representative government, combining to make it. As for campaign publicity, the republican plan of binding it self legally to observe publicity is better than a mere voluntary opening of the books.

Compared with Mr. Taft's address of acceptance, Mr. Bryan has failed to meet any of the existing conditions fairly and squarely. He reveals that while the two parties differ as to essential points they are alike in many and that the republican is the safer and the surer to follow.

FARM LIFE

No one is fair to assume, will take exception to President Roosevelt's letter in regard to the betterment of the social conditions of farm life. Undoubtedly these are deplorable in certain parts of the country, and in other parts far from ideal.

and yet there can be no doubt that in a considerable section of the United States there has been a notable improvement in the social state of the farmers.

This improvement has been the result of the advantages of three things: first, of the telephone, second, of the trolley, and third, of good roads. All three of these things are tending to make farm life less solitary and to bring it into closer union with the cities and towns. In other words, some of the advantages of town life are being brought to the farms, and this is tending mightily to give to farm life more refinement and comfort and communion with the outer world.

This improvement which has taken place in a part of the country ought to extend to all parts of the country, and while in general it may be said that it must inevitably come about as a result of a natural economic progress, yet much may be gained by the appointment of the commission which President Roosevelt has named.

AFRAID OF BEING YELLOW

It has been well said that some people are so very good that they leave to the devil most of the enjoyable things of life.

So also there are some bankers who are so conservative that they permit reckless speculators, tipsters and get-rich-quick schemers to get the advantage of courageous, aggressive methods of advertising.

Yellow advertising, like yellow journalism, is to be deplored, but some people are so afraid of being yellow that they become as black and depressing as a two-spot of spades held against a king of hearts.

Before the primary campaign is over Congressman Cooper may learn that there is a decided opposition to his renomination throughout the entire district. The activity of his postmasters, the work of his special press in explaining matters have all failed to give good reasons for his vote in congress against republican measures backed by Taft and Roosevelt or his attitude in the national convention in advocating planks which were afterwards adopted by the democratic party.

These matters are bothering the voter just now and they all know where Nolan stands and are satisfied.

There will be no campaigning against Senator Whitehead's nomination or re-election this year as in the past. His worth as a legislator, his value to the state on constructing laws that will hold water is appreciated and his presence in the state senate is desired by members of both factions who have in the past opposed him. He has risen above factional politics and is a state issue.

Beloit appears at sea as to whom to support for United States senator, Hutton and McGovern are both favored, but when it comes down to a heart-to-heart talk Isaac Stephenson has the real call upon the support of the Rock county voters. Mr. Stephenson has been tried and not found wanting. His vote in the last session of congress, was always with the administration and with their measures which constitute the life of the republic. He deserves re-election more than any of the other candidates deserve nomination.

Mr. Bryan tried to get back on Mr. Taft, but failed when it came to the final showdown. Of course, he was surprised, but his surprise ought to have given him more time to prepare a better speech than he did, one in which he might have deflected the issues he stands for more clearly. However, Taft spoke first and it must be remembered he did not leave Mr. Bryan very much to talk about.

Up in the first assembly district the voters have the naming of a candidate for the assembly whose record is such that his election would add dignity to the district and to the state legislature. Mr. Whitist is a man of the type that makes the best legislator.

Even the primary elections bring forth bets. Candidates are backed as are race-horses with odds on the favorites. At one local store a slate has been made on which Raussen is named as favorite in the sheriff's contest.

Turkey appears to have been turned upside down from its foundation. The Young Turk element are in control and perhaps something will come of the upheaval after all.

Think of it, a lawyer in a Chicago court has dared to call a woman a modern vampire. He probably is not married or he would not have dared to make such a statement.

Bryan was told that New York and Indiana would give him a majority and at the same time ambitious democrats have informed Taft that North Carolina and Georgia will go for him.

Just at present he corn crop was delighted to get on the water wagon, even if some of its products will later be used to induce humans to fall from the top of the same wagon.

Roosevelt may yet look upon the democratic platform as big game and as such suitable to be attacked by a mighty hunter.

Governor Hughes is to be run for Governor of New York once more. This time it is to help the national ticket.

Chicago had a hot boy for ten days that was entertained far better than many a youngster who staid at home.

Down in Kentucky the night riders have competition. The bull has begun to destroy the tobacco crop.

They say Shorlie Becker, former Mayor of Milwaukee, would now be an alldorman in his home city.

So Yates was the man of the hour—only he was several hours behind Duncen.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Worms Were Getting Scarce.
Evening Wisconsin: The rain was welcomed by anglers at the summer resorts as well as by the farmers. Digging for bait during the dry spell has been like opening up mines.

Hutton, Cook, et al.
Madison Democrat: Unless something happens soon to clarify the senatorial situation in Wisconsin some quite large chunks of disappointment are in store for someone.

How to Spend the Money.
Green Bay Gazette: If the money being spent by the senatorial candidates in this state could be put into a pool, what a magnificent status it would erect to that friend of economy, the primary election law.

Quickest Time on Record.
Wauson Record-Herald: Out in Walla Walla they make biscuits from standing grain in twenty-two minutes. If wonders do not come by and by they will drop a few grains of wheat into a slot machine and get a loaf of bread.

Watterson Not Inconsistent.
Brooklyn Standard Union: There is nothing particularly inconsistent in Henry Watterson's statement that "no man can be a prohibitionist and remain a democrat" when it is recalled that this comes from a state where no man can be a soldier and remain a private.

Tattoo Remedy For Divorce.
Pond du Lac Commonwealth: That divine who recommends the tattooing of brides on the chin, as a remedy for the divorce and infidelity evil, will probably conclude, on second thought, that the reform might be extended and additional protection furnished, by sitting the ears of the groom or putting a ring in his nose.

Primary in Illinois a Failure.
Beloit Free Press: In its first issue after the result of the primary election was known, the Peoria Journal was "Down and Out" still in the senatorial fight, which is open to all-comers. What did the primary contest decide for the Illinois republicans? Hopkins won the nomination by popular ballot, but now the fight is to be carried on and can only end in the state legislature. Is that to be the result of the Wisconsin primary? If it is, why not wait and settle it there?

Stranger Things Have Happened.
Pond du Lac Commonwealth: The gentlemen who have worked themselves up into such a fever of excitement over the John Strange candidacy for lieutenant governor, have failed to see any political significance in Gov. Davidson's remarking "This here" hospitality on a fishing trip. As a matter of fact there probably isn't any, but with the vision of plots and counter plots that have been going the rounds lately, no one can tell what construction is likely to be placed on the most ordinary happenings.

Not at Home in Water.
Exchange: Presidential Candidate Chalm is in danger of losing a lot of votes if he looks around Lincoln much longer. After hobnobbing with Bryan and thus showing an unexpected friendliness to the opposition, he has demonstrated his unfamiliarity with water by getting beyond his depth when he went for a swim, rendering it necessary for three boy bathers to rescue him. If the prohibition nominee is to make a tour of the rest of the states, it would seem to be the part of wisdom to send along a chapman.

Bob Out For Taft.
Green Bay Gazette: The life political gossip indulged in shortly after the national convention to the effect that Senator La Follette would bolt the republican ticket has been given the lie on several occasions but never more completely than in a recent speech made by the senior senator in which he pushed highly the republican presidential candidate. He does not say that Taft is a bright and brash man and can be relied upon to support the reform principles to which the party is pledged and to follow out the vigorous program started by President Roosevelt.

Underground Phone Lines.
Exchange: A news item announces the formal opening of another link in the underground telephone system between Milwaukee and Chicago. The system is to be completed this fall at a cost of $1,000,000. The item has a significant interest for the reason that it goes to show that up to date telephone construction requires the placing of his wires underground instead of permitting them to be strung on poles to clutter up streets and at times, when the time is not far distant when all cities of the better class will require underground construction as they can ill afford to have their streets and alleys, which are required for traffic, taken up for other purposes.

Novel Double Semi-Centennial.
Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald: Stevens Point, Wis., closes tonight a four day "home-coming" celebration of a rather novel character—the fiftyth anniversary of the grant of a city charter to that municipality, and also of the opening thereof of the first public high school in Wisconsin. One of the notable features is a reunion of the old high school students, a few of whom are in attendance from many quarters of the globe. When the present advanced position of Wisconsin's public schools is considered it seems almost incredible that the first public high school was not established in that commonwealth until two years before the election of President Lincoln—10 years after its admission as a state, and many years after the graded high or "union" school—as it was first called—had become a commonplace in Michigan. But Michigan was admitted as a state in 1835, a dozen years ahead of Wisconsin; and it is quite possible that in 1845 it could have made no better, if as good, a showing in the way of high school advantages as did the ledger state in 1858.

Abbott's Candidacy.
Green Bay Gazette: James E. Abbott of Madison is a candidate for the position of insurance commissioner on the republican ticket in opposition to the present incumbent of that office, George E. Boehle. Speaker Boehle declares that Abbott has been put up and is being "boosted" by the insurance companies, in response to which the candidate puts in a most emphatic denial. He declares that he is an independent candidate and is backed by no special interests, insurance or otherwise.

However that may be, it is certainly a fact that a circular letter, purporting to be issued by insurance men, has been sent broadcast throughout the state which sets off Abbott's qualifications for the office to which he aspires and in which it is stated that the companies have confidence in his ability and disposition to perform his duties in a fair and impartial manner.

It seems to be a similar case to that of ex-Congressman Minor of this district who is endorsed by some of the paper mill men. The more such endorsements are made the more suspicious the people become. Abbott would have been much better off as a candidate for insurance commissioner had the insurance men kept their hands off entirely. As it is now he is working under a decided handicap.

Here are four of Hearst's illustrious lieutenants in the state of Illinois. In one way or another Hearst has a claim on all of them, consequently all of them are prominent in the councils of Hearst's party. Therefore the most important feature of the paragraph to which attention must first be called is the large portrait of Mr. Hearst, standing upon the top of the desk and showing this versatile politician-publisher in a vigorous attitude of noisy advice.

The central figure in the group is W. Harvey Stuart, secretary of the Cook county committee of the Independence party and the man upon whom, to a large degree, fell the brunt of the preparation for the Chicago convention. He has been in Detroit, Minneapolis and Grand Rapids, Mich., but always he has landed back in Chicago and on the Chicago American. He is credited with having acquired more sensational scoops than any other newspaper man in Chicago.

Feared for God's Safety.
During a recent severe storm when the thunder and the electrical display were appalling in their intensity, a terrified little girl, with an imagination truly Miltonic, rushed breathlessly to her mother at an especially severe clap. "Oh! Maamma, mamma!" the little creature cried in agony. "I'm so afraid the thunder'll break the sky and God'll tumble out!"

"FLEEK'S"

STOOD THE TEST FOR SERVICE

If your teeth are beyond recovery, Why don't you come in and let me make you a new set?

Don't worry about the fit. I will attend to that.

I've had twenty years' experience at this work, and ought to know how to make good teeth by this time.

Just yesterday a party called at my office, bringing along a friend for some dental work.

"Before leaving," he said, "look at them," pointing to his teeth.

"You made those teeth for me four years ago, and I can eat anything, anytime, anywhere.

"They are fine," That's the way it goes.

Let me do your work, and you can say so to his and others say.

"Dr. Richards' work fits, and is O. K. every time."

GROCERS ON THE HAWKER'S TRAIL

WAS "PEDDLING" TEN MELONS SOLD TO HIM BY JOHN JONES.

GYPSIES DRIVEN FROM TOWN

Jack Gardner Who Created Disturbance in N. River St. Saloon and Others Punished for Drunkenness.

About nine o'clock this morning a caravan of gypsies, who had been in camp in the vicinity of the city for some days past, made its way to the heart of the city and came to a halt on Jackson street, just south of the Milwaukee street intersection. There were six wagons, fifteen horses, a score of scantily garbed children, and as many gaily dressed women and dark-skinned males in the outfit and the fortune-tellers had commenced to make a foray on the business district just as Officer Peter Champlin appeared on the scene. The latter promptly ordered the raving band to move on and when they reluctantly complied with his command, followed for a ways on foot and headed them off in an attempt to simply go around the block onto High street and continue their unwelcome visit. With the patrol wagon the same officer subsequently chased the wanderers down Lincoln street, along Western avenue, and across the Montgomery bridge, paying no attention to their shrill cries and pleading the necessity for obtaining a license in the Fourth ward. On Western avenue a regular circus line-up of women and children turned out to watch the pursuit. The gypsies sent one of their number to round up the fortune tellers and apprise them of what had happened as well as to secure some food and shoes. They claim to be on their way to Chicago.

Melon-Peddler Run Down.

About the same time W. W. Nash complained to Chief Appleby that water-melons were being peddled without a license in the Fourth ward. Near the intersection of Lincoln street and Western avenue Officer Champlin came upon a wagon containing a quantity of sweet corn and melons and a man who pretended not to understand the direction given them. On Western avenue a regular circus line-up of women and children turned out to watch the pursuit. The gypsies sent one of their number to round up the fortune tellers and apprise them of what had happened as well as to secure some food and shoes. They claim to be on their way to Chicago.

Punished for Drunkenness. Jack Gardner, who, while intoxicated last evening, went to the mat with the proprietor and bartender of a North River street saloon over a question of finance, inflicting a deep gash in the former's head, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of drunkenness and paid a fine and costs amounting to $3.10. He said that he had never been in a scrape of that kind before and had no recollection of his having tried to "clean out the place." William Cochran whose family in Monterey awakened Deputy Sheriff William Dulin at a late hour last evening with a complaint that the young man was trying to turn things upside down, coupled with an urgent request that he be taken into custody, also pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge. He said that the chimney fell off the lamp while he was going upstairs and that the folks were half crazy anyway. "I guess you are the crazy member of the household—three days in jail and $2 and costs amounting in all to $3.10, or three additional days," said Judge Fifield. The family of Jacob Dooly had also lodged a complaint against him for drunkenness and caused his arrest. He was sent to the battle for 1 day and a fine and costs of $2.10 with the alternative of 3 days more, assessed against him. Alfred Anderson who lives west of Beloit paid a fine and costs of $2.10, and the same fine and costs, with the alternative of five days in jail, were levied against William Landon of Delavan.

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

"Look here," my young "spaniard," said Connell gruffly, "Filipino or Spaniard, if you want to save your hide you'd better answer questions—and no lies, do you hear?"

At this threat a deep groan was heard to come from somewhere back in the recesses of the chained. The men were startled. Involuntarily the boy cast a furtive glance in that direction. Connell noticed it and, leaving the boy with Bannemer, hurried away and soon was looking down into the face of a prostrate man, young, but aged with emaciation.

"You must not touch him! Don't you see that he is dying?" cried the boy piteously in broken English. "He cannot fight you; he's dying," and then in a perfect frenzy of rage to Bannemer, "Let me go—please!"

Not until afterward did Bannemer recall that in the general excitement it was the boy who dragged him along to the spot. And in spite of the solemnity of the scene there was something in his manner of delivering the insult that amused rather than angered the American.

"Pucky little devil!" he said half aloud.

Again the sick man groaned, tried to rise from the blankets and speak, but only to fall back moaning. Connell cautioned him against exertion and promised that no harm should come to either of them. While he reported the discovery to Captain Grace, he had the man carried to another part of the church and there made comfortable. For the first time since Bannemer began to notice the pain in his arm, somewhat angrily he turned to the boy:

"Come! Give an account of yourself! How came you here?"

"Prisoner," was the sullen answer.

"Of the Filipinos?" Bannemer asked in surprise.

"Yes."

"Then why did you try to kill me?"

"I hate you both! You Spaniards, have me not as much to fear from you? What difference does color make in hatred?"

"By the holy apostles! You're a gritty young 'un!" growled the returning sergeant. "Who's the other chap?"

"My brother—he's dying," said the boy, his voice softening. "Holy Virgin, save him! For weeks we've been in the hands of Aguinaldo's men. He's been so ill all the time. Have you a doctor?"

"A surgeon will probably be with us before long," was the sergeant's evasive reply.

Bannemer looked searchingly at Connell. What he saw in the other's eyes caused him a sharp pang of grief. Both men turned their faces away for a moment, and it was with a gulp that Connell continued:

"Your brother will have the best of care if we get out of this mess. You are both safe. We are not fighting the Spaniards." And then pertinently, "So those were Aguinaldo's men?"

"Yes. He was here directing the fight," the boy answered.

"Aguinaldo here?" This and other ejaculations of surprise and anger burst in chorus from every throat. But as suddenly they were followed by expressions of chagrin, for by contrasting the present situation with that which they had anticipated, this information had succeeded in intensifying their mortification.

But notwithstanding his share of the universal disappointment, a hasty reflection of preceding events convinced Graydon that personally he had little ground for complaint against the late occupants of the convent, for unintentional as undoubtedly had been the act through which at the very point of death his existence had been preserved, there was no evidence to refute the hypothesis that the shot which had killed his assailant in the plaza had been fired by one of the insurgents under cover.

"Great Scott!" was the exclamation to which he gave utterance. "Once more, I suppose, I owe my life to the blundering marksmanship of a Filipino!"

This half-hearted acknowledgment of his strange indebtedness, uttered from his companion's recognition of the sergeant and an enigmatical smile on the face of the young Spaniard, Connell proceeded with his examination: "Why did they leave you here?"

"They had no time to take us with them when you broke in," was the boy's answer. "Aguinaldo was on his way to some village where his family is in hiding. The scouts told him of your presence. Then he determined not to wait for Pilar, but to surprise you. We never rested day or night. My poor brother—how he suffered!"

"Yes, yes, but why are they carrying you on a march like this?"

"My brother is the only man who knows where the Spanish gold was hidden when our war was ended—I mean the gold that came up with guns and ammunition. Aguinaldo is looking for the hiding place. My father, a high officer in the Spanish army, died of the fever last winter. We were stolen from our home in Manila by Aguinaldo's men and have been going from place to place ever since. We have not told of the hiding place. The Americans do not need gold, do they?"

The boy laughed sarcastically. "How many men has Aguinaldo?"

"Three hundred or more. I would advise you to look out for Pilar. He, too, may come at any moment."

Scarcely had the words left his mouth when a storm of yells came from outside the convent, and immediately the boy rushed to his brother's side.

"Great Caesar, there's a thousand of them!" cried Rogers.

Instantly every man made for the position assigned to him. The gun was in readiness. Outside the doors rattled, bullets coming from all quarters and thumping sharply against the opposite walls with a patter that warned the Americans against standing erect.

Occasionally a scout would peep from a window and take a shot into the darkness, but these ventures were few. All lights were extinguished. The men fled at the spots from which burst the flames of rifles, then dropped suddenly. After awhile the sipping of the Filipinos dwindled into a shot now and then.

"Keep low! They don't dare risk a charge! Be ready to defend the door!" Captain Grace commanded.

The night wore on, and with the cessation of hostilities confidence increased. Re-entrances were not far off, and it did not seem possible that the sounds of battle could not be heard. The men, worn out by the exciting events of the day, were generally silent. Sergeant Connell, however, was an exception.

"Get up! Not a bit of it," he was saying, "the dirty little coward! Major March will be here in the shape of a dead man's bill!"

An hour later Bannemer, his rifle in hand, sitting near one of the windows, suddenly felt some one tugging at his arm. Turning, he saw the Spanish boy.

"Won't you come and help me to carry my brother behind the stone wall?" he was saying. "He is exposed to the bullets and cannot move himself."

"Willingly!" and Graydon followed his lead. As if he was a child, he picked up the gaunt Spaniard and carefully bore him to the place of shelter, but despite all that he could do to hide his suffering the pain in his arm, which the removal of the man had increased, was such for a moment that he felt faint and staggered. The boy was quick to notice it and quickly asked:

"What is the matter? Wounded?"

"It's nothing; merely a scratch."

"Oh, I know. Why, it's your arm, and I—" The boy's face crimsoned with shame and contrition. Through the sameness of the night escaped Graydon's notice, but not so the truly feminine little shriek of dismay as he touched and felt the wet sleeve.

"It was I who did it! Oh, how can you ever forgive me?"

Graydon, dumfounded, stared in wonder.

"What?" he exclaimed; "you're a girl?"

"Yes, I'm his sister," pointing to the dying man; then, with some embarrassment: "Those clothes? They are the only ones they would give me. You see, a girl would have been a burden; a boy none at all. Do you think that had I been a man you could so easily have overpowered me? Not!"

The slim, little figure drew itself up straight and defiant before him. Despite the loose, ugly garments of the Filipinos, Graydon indeed for the first time that the figure was perfectly molded and high bred. She swept off the wide hat she wore, and the man saw a mass of dark hair done up tightly on her head. But even while he gazed her mood changed. She became subversively anxious and begged him to let her attend to his arm. She pleaded so hard that, to please her, he yielded. Water was obtained from somewhere, the slight flesh wound washed and then, disappearing into the darkness, to his amazement she returned almost instantly with some bandages and dressed his arm.

While this surgical operation was going on Graydon, for the life of him, could not resist the temptation to ask her again why she had tried to shoot him. At first, so terribly in earnest did she take the question and beg for money, that he smiled at her, and then, seeing his amusement, she said coquettishly:

"How could I possibly have known that you were so nice? Besides, I had always heard you Americans referred to as brutes."

Graydon laughed; then suddenly his face became very grave. The realization of her terrible situation had dawned upon him. A woman among a crowd of rough soldiers! Her brother and protector dying! And all surrounded by hordes of savage enemies who at any moment might kill them! The thought dislodged all pleasantness from his mind. Something must be done, and at once. Presently he asked: "What is your name?"

"My father was Colonel Ramos Jose Velasquez. That also is my brother's name, except that he is not an officer. I am Teresa Fortuna Velasquez. My mother was English, a sister of Sir William Fortuna. She is dead. For ten years we have lived in Manila."

"You won't mind if I call the sergeant, will you?" The girl nodded a slightly bewildered assent as Graydon moved rapidly toward the others. Shortly he returned with the gallant Irishman.

"Sunolita," began Connell, mopping his forehead and assuming his most polite manner; "you are perfectly safe with us, and as quickly as possible your brother and yourself shall be sent back to Manila. You are a brave ship of a girl, and we boys respect bravery in whatever dress—boy or girl."

She looked at him in grateful surprise, and her lips trembled. "But I am not your friend?"

"Possibly, sunolita." He bowed low, with almost Chesterfieldian grace. "But we are your friends."

Outside once more the Mousers were rattling, and Connell, with a word of parting, hastily took his leave. Graydon, on the point of returning to his post, was prevented by the girl.

"You were gentle with me even when I tried to—Don't risk your life there. Shoot from that narrow gate," pointing aloft. "It's not so exposed."

Bannemer dragged an altar chair up to the great window and perched himself upon it. The girl sat below him, holding her brother's hand in her lap. He was groaning and crying out to the soldiers to kill him, rather than permit him to fall into the hands of the natives again.

Suddenly there was a great commotion and crashing of timbers in the front part of the church, followed by shouts and the rushing of feet. Graydon dropped from his perch and ran forth into the church. As he did so the banging of rifles close at hand deafened him. In an instant he saw what had happened. The Filipinos had charged the door and had forced it. They were crowding their way into the church in the face of the deadly Krup-Jorgensen. The chapel was lighted, but not from the inside. Cautious insurgents in the shelter of the walls were holding great torches just outside of the windows. Graydon could see his comrades firing at the door from behind every conceivable barrier. Without hesitation he dashed down the aisle and into the thick of the fray near the door.

The struggle was brief but fierce. The merciless fire of many Mousers on the outside opened a way through the small band of defenders, and the rush of the besiegers was successful. Through the door and windows they came, swarming like bees. Many of them fell to rise no more, but their

BITS OF HUMOR

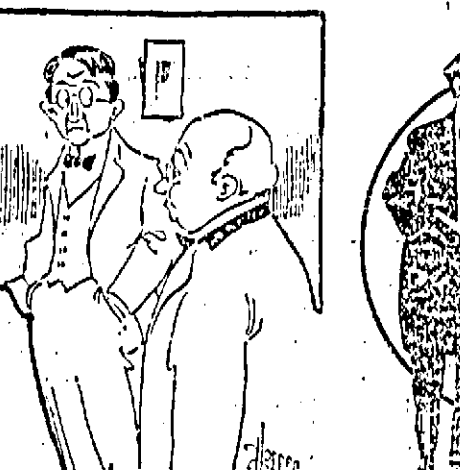

DRUNKENNESS
A Curable Disease

Eminent Physicians and Scientific Men Agree That it Should be Treated as Such.

Drunkenness is a progressive disease; the moderate drinker is not satisfied with two or three drinks a day, the craving for more and more becomes irresistible as the disease advances; the result is Chronic Alcoholism.

The treatment used successfully by thousands right in their own homes is Orin. It is a scientific cure for Drunkenness and has given such universal satisfaction that it is sold under a positive guarantee to effect a cure or your money will be refunded. This guarantee is given in good faith and is carried out to the letter. Orin is not a new remedy; it has been sold by the leading druggists in every city for years. It has lifted tens of thousands from the depths to worthy citizenship and has the hearty endorsement of grateful men and women in every state in the Union.

Orin No. 1 is the secret remedy; Orin No. 2, is for those willing to take the treatment. Either form costs $1.00. The guarantee is the same in either case. Write to The Orin Co., Washington, D. C., for free treatise on Drunkenness, mailed in plain sealed envelope. Orin will be mailed sealed on receipt of price. Sold by leading druggists and in this city by People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy.

OF COURSE, Smith—Do you believe a man can do two things at the same time?

James—Certainly. He can stand on his dignity while sitting on a jury.

ONE OF THEM. She—Ada has married one man out of a thousand.

He—Well, how many did you expect her to marry?

WHAT DID SHE MEAN? Mr. Quince—Well, I see old Goldman is dead and leaves more than three millions. Wouldn't you like to be his widow?

Mrs. Quince—Yes, if I see, I mean, I could possibly delight me more than just to be a wife.

WITH INTEREST. Pa—Robbie, I merely punish you to show my love for you, my boy.

Robbie—If I was only bigger, pa, I'd return your love.

ARCHBISHOP QUIGLEY OF CHICAGO.

Rome, Italy.—It is the general belief at the Vatican in Rome that another red hat is to go to America. It is declared that Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago, is almost certain to be created a cardinal, although it is uncertain whether his elevation will take place at the next consistory or be deferred a short time.

Four names have been kept prominent in the discussion of the prospective new American cardinals. They are those of Archbishop Farley of New York; O'Connell of Boston; Ryan of Philadelphia and Quigley of Chicago. Archbishop Ryan's age will probably stand in the way of his ambitions as the pope is desirous of infusing youth into his board of cardinals. There is said to be no chance whatever that the other three will be nominated simultaneously at the same consistory, but it is no impossible that two of them will receive the purple at the next consistory. If but one is elevated it is believed the high church honor will fall upon the distinguished Chicagoan. The approaching consistory is eagerly awaited for many reasons, particularly in view of new reforms which may be inaugurated in the Roman curia. These reforms have been formulated by Pius himself. The changes involve the creation of several new cardinals for Rome, it is said. In addition to the probable increase in cardinals for America, there are 59 living members of the sacred college, which is 11 short of the full number and five less than the number which elected Pius himself. Twenty-seven of these cardinals reside in Rome. Almost half of them are either octogenarians or invalids, while many of the other half are incapable of work. Wherefore, the holy father's active helpers number scarcely more than a dozen. It is this situation which seems to imperatively demand the creation of new cardinals. The increased work involved in Pius X's reforms will involve much additional labor and will require the efforts of a number of additional active cardinals, at least four of whom must reside in Rome.

America is to be represented in the coming consistory, as usual, by Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore. His advice will undoubtedly be sought and followed to some degree in the creation of additional American cardinals. Out of the four possible candidates in the United States, however, Archbishop Quigley of Chicago seems to be the probable nominee.

Cherries in England. It is still asserted in schoolbooks that cherries were introduced to this country by the "frutifer" or grocer of Henry VIII; also that they were not common for a hundred years after that time. It is a surprising error. Mr. Thomas Wright found the name in every one of the Anglo-Saxon vocabularies which he edited. So common were they, and so highly esteemed, that the time for gathering them became a recognized festival—"cherry fair" or "fest."—London Cornhill Magazine.

THIRD HEAT OF THE RACE FOR BURDICK HOTEL $10,000 PURSE.

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Spanish Queen justified the confidence of her friends, her owner and her trainer when she won the Burdick House purse of $10,000, the banner offering of the Kalamazoo grand circuit meeting and one of the largest purses that will be paid out this year to the owners of trotters. The photo snapshot shows Spanish Queen at the pole slightly in the lead. The old time trainer, Ed. Gears was the closest competitor and is seen next to Spanish Queen above.
